

Jeff Orrey, Lead Program Manager, Vexcel

Jeff is a Lead Program Manager at Vexcel, Microsoft's geospatial subsidiary in Boulder, Colorado. He is the Product Manager for the Bing Maps Server and also leads the Vexcel team that provides consulting services for geospatial applications built with Bing Maps and the Bing Maps Server. He holds a Ph.D. in Physics from the University of Colorado, with his dissertation in the area of computational geophysics. He is a former Science and Technology Policy Fellow at the US Agency for International Development, sponsored by the American Associate for the Advancement of Science, and he has been working in the geospatial industry for over 15 years.