

Kevin Adler
Microsoft Corporation

Kevin Adler has spent the last decade within Microsoft's Public Sector division working across multiple technologies and disciplines to help Federal, State and Local Governments improve operations and service to citizens through the use of Microsoft software.

As Geospatial Solutions Specialist, Mr. Adler works with government agencies to assist them in defining and implementing location-based solutions utilizing Microsoft's Bing maps platform technologies to augment situational awareness of business intelligence data.

Prior to joining Microsoft, Mr. Adler worked for non-profit organizations and received his Bachelors of Science in Business Administration from Towson University, Baltimore Maryland.